

Key representation options

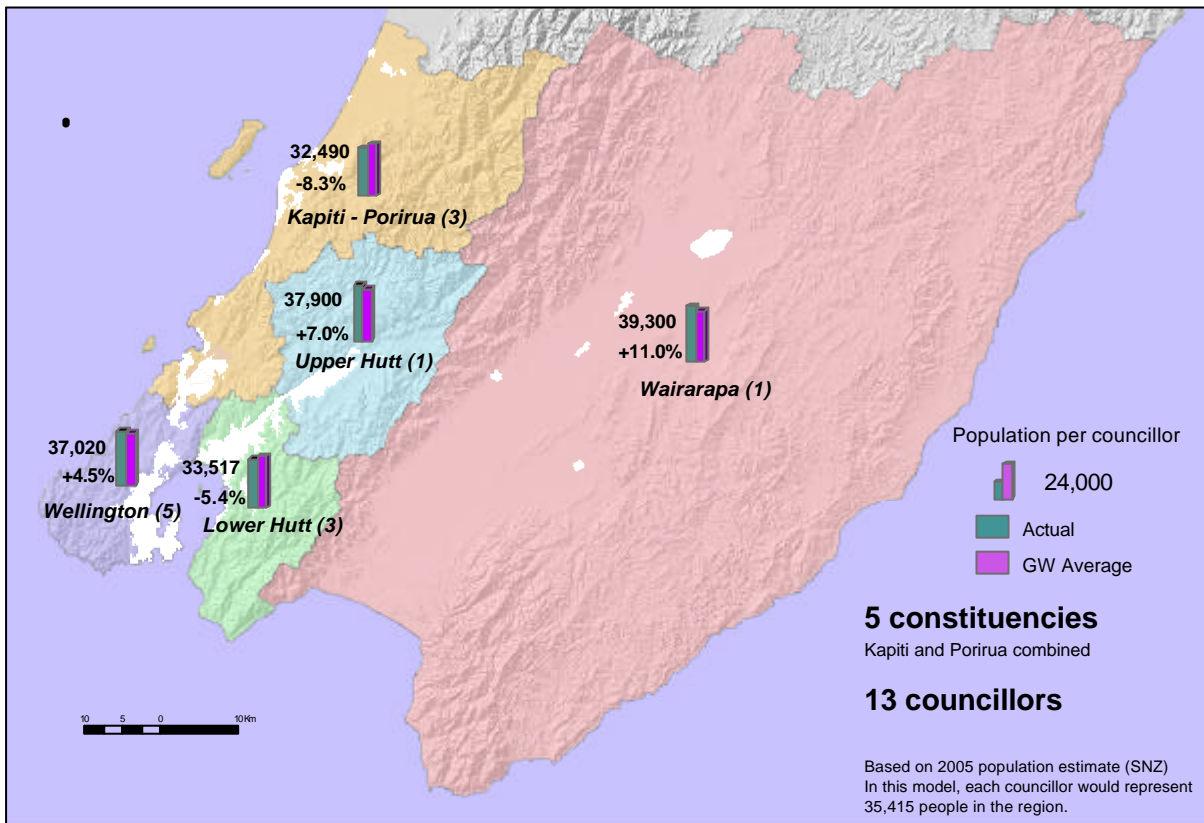

Option 1 – 4 constituencies and 13 councillors

The current Kapiti and Porirua constituencies are joined together to make one constituency with three members. The Lower Hutt and Upper Hutt constituencies are combined to make one constituency with four members. The Wellington and Wairarapa constituencies remain as they are currently, with five members and one member respectively.

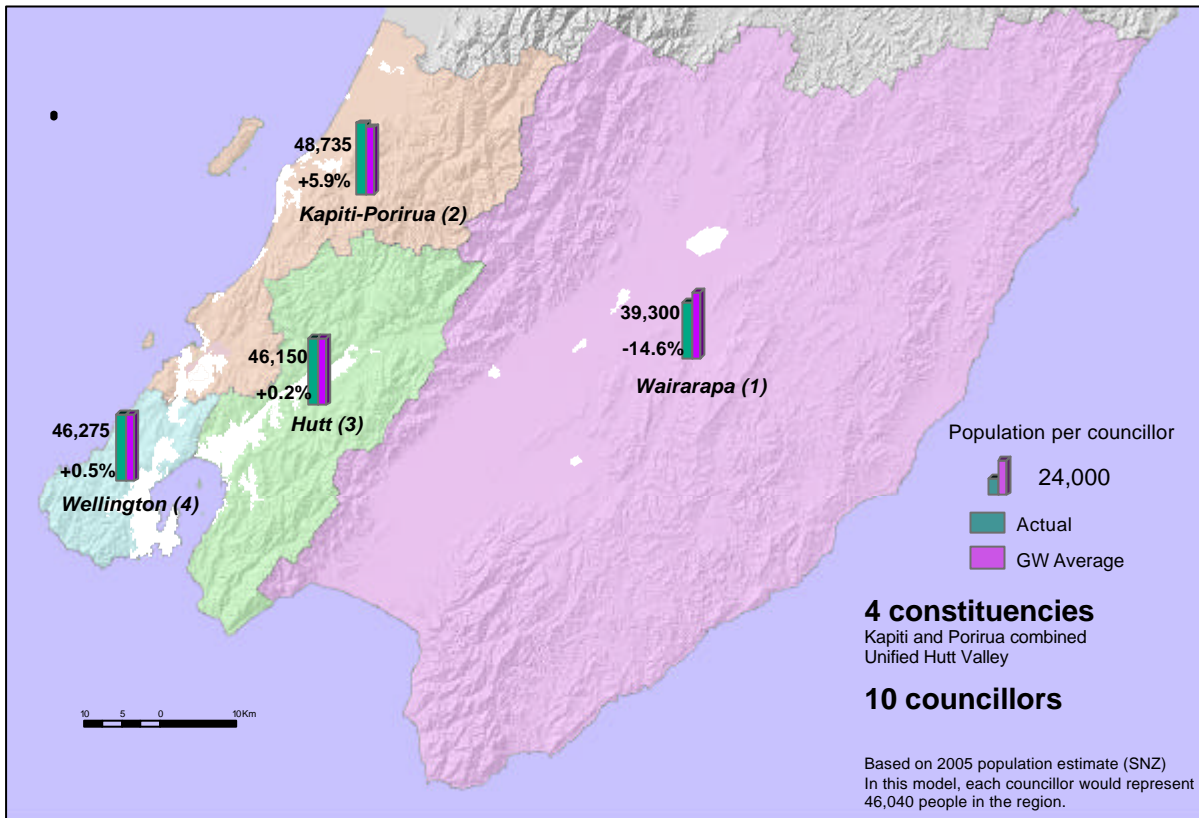

Option 2 – 5 constituencies and 13 councillors

This option has one large constituency, which joins Porirua and Kapiti together, and has three members. All other constituencies and number of members are the same as they currently, except there is only one member in the Wairarapa constituency.

Option 3

This option has the same constituencies as above, but with two members in the Kapiti-Porirua constituency, three members in the Hutt Valley constituency and four members in the Wellington constituency. The Wairarapa constituency has one member.

Option 4

This option has one large constituency which joins Lower Hutt and Upper Hutt together and has three members. All other constituencies and number of members are the same as they currently, except there is one member in the Wairarapa constituency.
