8 Obtaining Information

8.4 *Local Government Official Information and Meetings Act 1987

The Local Government Official Information and Meetings Act 1987 applies to all information held by local authorities, including that relating to meetings. "Information" means information in its broadest sense, that is, what is known as well as what is physically recorded and includes a variety of types of records, including tapes, photographs, microfiche.

Requests for official information may be written or oral and should be directed in the first instance to the Information Services Officer (Records Management). Information Services will send a brief letter acknowledging that the request has been received.

The Council is under a statutory obligation to decide whether or not the information requested will be provided. This decision is required to be made within 20 working days of the date the request is received and the Council must inform the individual accordingly. Where the Wellington Regional Council declines a request, there is a right of review by the Ombudsman and subsequent appeal to the High Court.

Personal information is available free of charge to that person. The first hour of staff time involved in retrieving information and the first 20 pages of information are free of charge. There may be a charge of $28 per half-hour of staff time after the first hour and 20 cents per A4 page after the first 20 pages. Other charges will be based on the recovery of actual costs.

8.5 *Privacy Act 1993

The objective of the Privacy Act 1993 is to provide better protection for individual privacy in relation to the collection, use, access, correction and disclosure of personal information held by any public and private sector "agency", which includes the Council.

Personal information may be collected only for a lawful purpose connected with a function or activity of the Council and only if necessary for that purpose. Such information must, as a general rule, be collected directly from the individual concerned and that person must be told why the information is needed.

Only an individual who is in New Zealand, or who is a citizen or permanent resident of New Zealand may make a request for personal information. Requests for privacy information may be written or oral and should be directed in the first instance to the Information Services Officer (Records Management).

The Council is required within 20 working days after the request has been made to decide whether the request is to be granted, and to inform the individual accordingly. There is no charge for information supplied under the Privacy Act.

Where the Council refuses an individual's request for personal information, it is required to give reasons and inform the individual of their right to seek a review by the Privacy Commissioner.

9 Meetings

9.4 Council
